ABOUT US

At Sapo Ventures, we aim to provide high quality gourmet products at competitive prices as per market standards. Our products are free of artificial colours and flavours, hence enabling the end consumer to get an experience of authentic home made flavours.

Credited with de-mystifying international cooking and then starting the Markets by Karen Anand, a platform with an emphasis on local, natural and sustainable produce, Karen Anand has handed over the legacy of her gourmet food business to her sons, Param and Sasha Anand. SAPO has re-launched the retail brand under Ks Kitchen and the B2B luxury hotel business under KA Gourmet to an overwhelming response all across India. K's Kitchen also has a large private label clientele.

At SAPO Ventures we support the 'vocal for local' movement and sources all ingredients from within the country. Recently we have increased the range of products to include conserves with no added sugar, a variety of salad dressings and sandwich spreads and a new range of Oriental sauces, with no compromise on quality and at affordable price points. With the availability of these ready to cook jars of International quality products available online and at select retail outlets, international cuisines today can be made and experienced without stepping out of the home.

Our factory on the outskirts of Pune is compliant with all the necessary safety, hygiene and health protocols. We also actively hire underprivileged women from the region to support the local community.

Together, the Anand/Sankalia family share a common love for gourmet food which lives on, continually innovating and creating.
